MUSKINGUM

The Otto & Fran Walter Hall

The North Elevation of Otto and Fran Walter Hall.

Otto and Fran Walter Hall provides stunning views from its classroom windows.

Otto and Fran Walter Hall honors the extraordinary lives and generosity of two longtime champions of excellence. Through their words and deeds, both Otto and Fran Walter exemplified the ideals of international understanding, reconciliation, the transformative power of the arts, and the triumph of the human spirit.

A prominent attorney driven from his native Bavaria by Nazi persecution, Dr. Otto Walter began his life anew in the United States. He became a renowned international jurist and a powerful voice for German-American reconciliation following World War II. He was an accomplished pianist and often performed in chamber music concerts. Fran Walter was a talented watercolorist and was dedicated to improving the lives and education of young people.

When Walter Hall opens its doors, it will be Muskingum's new home for music, world languages, and the Center for the Advancement of Learning. It will leave an indelible mark on the minds and hearts of generations and generations of students.

Cornerstone Ceremony

The Otto and Fran Walter Foundation was represented at the cornerstone unveiling ceremony by Vice President Martha Peak Helman, President Dr. Frank G. Helman '51, and Treasurer Dr. Fritz Weinshenk.

Dr. Weinshenk delivered the ceremony's keynote address. Like Otto Walter, he escaped to New York when the Nazi regime rose to power. Dr. Weinshenk enlisted in the U.S. Army, landed at Omaha Beach in Normandy on D-Day, fought in France under General Dwight D. Eisenhower, and came ashore in the Philippines with General Douglas MacArthur. He earned his law degree and returned to Germany to prosecute Nazi war criminals during the Nuremburg Trials. His lifelong work for justice and restitution for Holocaust survivors continues today.

"Otto and Fran Walter Hall is a visible symbol of Muskingum's enduring dedication to excellence and to the principles which have guided us since our founding more than 170 years ago. May it forever be a place of inspiration and transformation, as the future unfolds daily on these hills."

Symbols of Our Past:

Historical Architectural Elements to be Displayed in Walter Hall

Otto and Fran Walter Hall will soon open its doors as the gateway to our campus and a gateway to our history, housing a permanent display of architectural elements from Muskingum's earliest buildings.

From their new place of honor, these nineteenth-century artifacts will be daily reminders of our roots, our ideals, our longstanding educational excellence, and our proud history.

The Literary Society Transoms

When Johnson Hall opened in 1899, decorative window transoms designated second floor rooms that were home to Muskingum's first literary societies.

These student-led societies shaped the academic and social pursuits and traditions of our earliest Muskie generations:

- The Union Literary Society was the first to be founded, in the late 1830s.
- The Philomathean Society known as Philos was founded in the late 1840s by a group that included future Muskingum President Rev. David Paul and Muskingum's first international student, Nicholas Pascal of Mexico.

The 1839 Bricks and the First Gymnasium Floor

In 1839, just two short years after our March 18, 1837, founding, Muskingum's first building was dedicated on the site where the 1873 landmark Paul Hall stands today. When the first building was destroyed by fire, its bricks were salvaged for later use.

As the twentieth century dawned, Muskingum's commitment to intercollegiate athletics became visible on the campus landscape, at the urging of the faculty and with financial support from alumni.

The Alumni Gymnasium was constructed in 1900, and bricks from the first building helped to form its walls.

In 1943, athletic activities moved to the structure we know today as John Glenn Gymnasium, and the "Alumni Gymnasium" became the "Little Theatre."

During the conversion to theatre space, Muskingum's first gymnasium floor was covered over, with its original 1900 basketball markings still intact.

Today, these rediscovered bricks and gymnasium floor provide extraordinary tangible connections to the early days of the "College on the Hill."

For their invaluable assistance with the artifact project, Muskingum thanks Alan J. Chaffee, Professor of English, and William T. Kerrigan, the Arthur and Eloise Barnes Cole Distinguished Professor of American History and University Archivist.

MUSKINGUM PAYS TRIBUTE TO:

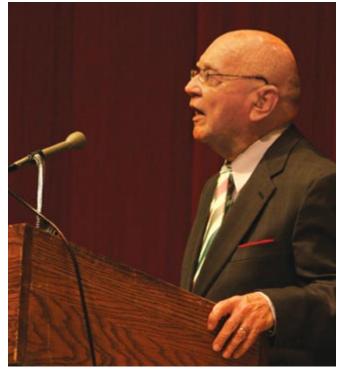

Johnson Hall Little Theatre

For more than 100 years, Johnson Hall and the Alumni Gymnasium/Little Theatre dominated our East Campus landscape.

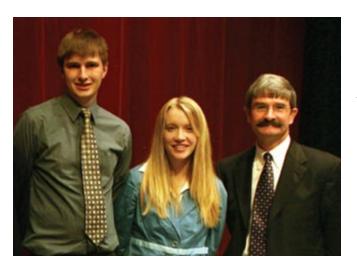

As we prepared to place significant architectural elements from these structures on permanent display in Walter Hall, Muskingum gathered to pay tribute to the buildings and the century of learning that took place within their walls.

Dr. William L. Fisk '41, Professor Emeritus of History, delivered the keynote address. During his 40-year Muskingum career, Dr. Fisk was known for his inspiring teaching, distinguished scholarship in English and Scottish history, and dedicated leadership as Dean and Vice President of Academic Affairs. He is the author of the definitive History of Muskingum College.

Perspectives on Muskingum's extraordinary past were shared by New Concord Mayor R. Greg Adams '81, Professor Emeritus William L. Fisk '41.

Professor of English Alan J. Chaffee, Reverend William E. Mullins '02, Hope Johnson Wilcoxon '47, and Heather Geffen '09 and Ryan Worbs '10, co-authors of the 2009 Muskingum College pictorial history with William T. Kerrigan, the Arthur and Eloise Barnes Cole Distinguished Professor of History.

Thank You for 40 Years of Excellence

Dr. Alan J. Chaffee, Professor of English, has served the Muskingum community with distinction since 1970.

Generations of Muskies have come to know him as a gifted teacher of Shakespeare and the literary classics. He has twice been honored with faculty awards of excellence: the William Oxley Thompson Award for Excellence in Teaching and the Cora I. Orr Service Award.

A prominent Shakespearean scholar, Dr. Chaffee is a Fulbright Scholar and the recipient of a National Endowment for the Humanities fellowship.

"Professor Chaffee, we are profoundly grateful for your extraordinary teaching and significant scholarship.

Your legacy will continue to unfold in the countless lives that you have shaped. You will be deeply missed."

— PRESIDENT ANNE C. STEELE

For more than 20 years, Dr. Chaffee has been engaged in preserving an extraordinary aspect of Ohio's pioneer history: a two-story, slate-roofed sandstone block house built in 1825. He discovered the house when it was slated for demolition, purchased it, dismantled it, and reassembled it in a new location. He continues to restore it in keeping with its nineteenth-century era, noting that "The essence of Shakespeare appeals to each generation, and stone, too, has the essential strength and stability to survive the ages."

900 Victories... Coach Donna Newberry Makes NCAA Division III History

Muskingum Head Softball Coach Donna Newberry is the first in NCAA Division III history to achieve 900 career victories in a single sport.

For 36 years, Coach Newberry has devoted her talents and passion to the Muskingum community. She led us to our first-ever NCAA championship in 2001; her softball teams perennially rank in the national top-25; and they have claimed 18 OAC championships.

Coach Newberry is a member of the National Fastpitch Softball Hall of Fame. She is only the 25th coach across all NCAA divisions to accumulate 900 victories.

Coach Newberry also earned 403 victories and three OAC championships in women's basketball. She led Muskingum's team to a second-place national finish in 1991, when she was named the NCAA Division III National Coach of the Year by the Women's Basketball Coaches Association.

"Coach Newberry, you have had a profound and lasting impact on generations and generations of Muskingum students, creating champions in every sense of the word. You inspire us all to reach for new levels of excellence. Congratulations and thank you."

— PRESIDENT ANNE C. STEELE

As Professor of Health and Physical Education, she also educates our students in the classroom, and as Director of Intramural Programs, she enhances their campus life and recreational opportunities.

Coach Newberry leads by example, regularly embarking upon her own challenging educational journeys, and motivating and encouraging her students as they develop personal attributes for success on and off the field.

Coach Newberry's mother Juanita Newberry and brother David Newberry helped celebrate her 900th victory.

The Pharaoh was believed to be Horus' earthly embodiment, and protective wingspread falcons were often depicted to symbolize their important role as guardians of the ruler.

Mummified falcons – similar to Muskingum's falcon – were found in the tombs of the Pharaohs, including King Tut's tomb.

Under the sands of Saqqara, ancient Egypt's largest cemetery still contains catacombs of mummified falcons – perhaps close relatives of Muskingum's falcon reside there?

Thank You

Mary Ann Rowe Wucher '57

"My education at Muskingum was wonderful, and my Muskingum friendships have lasted a lifetime."

Looking back on her years at Muskingum, Mary Ann Wucher recalls her personalized education and the lifelong friendships she developed. Music at Muskingum was especially memorable — "I loved being involved in Professor Woodrow Pickering's musical productions, operettas, and choir concerts. I still think of him today when I perform with our church choir and handbell team."

An active volunteer in her church, community, and for her alma mater, Mary Ann was recently honored for devoting more than 1,000 hours to Wesley Spectrum Services, which assists autistic and at-risk children and their families. She has served as the Pennsylvania state president of the Philanthropic Education Organization.

She and her fiancé, Lou Scheimer, divide their time between Presto, Pennsylvania, and Tarzana, California. Mary Ann's three children and five grandchildren all reside in the Pittsburgh area where her late husband, Dr. Fred Wucher, was a prominent pediatrician.

Mary Ann enjoys frequent trips and visits with her former Muskingum roommates and staying in touch with her classmates. "I was so proud of our class," she notes, "when we had 93% participation for our 50th reunion gift."

"It's so important to participate and help Muskingum together we can make sure that today's and tomorrow's students will benefit as we did from its educational mission and values."

Dr. Glenn R. Hodges '63 and Carolyn Read Hodges '64

"The close personal relationships I had with my professors and faculty advisor at Muskingum laid the groundwork for my life."

Dr. Glenn Hodges came to Muskingum with an interest in science and thoughts of medical missionary work in faraway lands. He graduated with a major in chemistry and earned his medical degree at the University of Chicago and a master of science degree at the Ohio State University. Carolyn earned her Muskingum degree in elementary education.

They settled in the Kansas City area, where Glenn established a distinguished medical practice, serving as Chief of Staff of the Kansas City Veterans Administration Medical Center.

Now retired, Glenn is fulfilling his early goal of missionary work, serving those in need in his own community as a volunteer physician for the Health Partnership Clinic of Johnson County.

Glenn and Carolyn support the innovative social service programs offered by Cross-Lines Community Outreach. Glenn

Richard L. Kurth '59

"In Muskingum's classrooms, my professors helped me discover how to think, how to learn, and how to teach others."

St. Clairsville, Ohio, native Richard Kurth took those lessons to heart, creating his own legacy of excellence in teaching. After graduating from Muskingum with his bachelor's degree in French, he studied in Paris, earning his master's degree in French from Middlebury College. He returned to Ohio to begin his teaching career in the Midview School District.

He soon joined the faculty of the Kamehameha Schools in Honolulu, Hawaii, the prestigious private academy founded in 1887 by Princess Bernice Pauahi Bishop, the last royal descendant of Hawaii's King Kamehameha the Great. There, he helped lead the world language education of native Hawaiian students for more than 30 years. During his sabbatical years, he studied in Madrid, earning his second Middlebury College master's degree, in Spanish.

Richard remembers fondly his Muskingum arts education: "It shaped my interests in music, in arts, in traveling, and exploring other cultures." Now retired from teaching, Richard remains a resident of Honolulu and continues to travel the world. He has taken multiple trips to China, Japan, Europe, and Alaska, and his other destinations have included Turkey, Egypt, South America, Antarctica, and New Zealand.

"My lifelong educational journey has led me to many wonderful places and experiences – and it truly began at Muskingum."

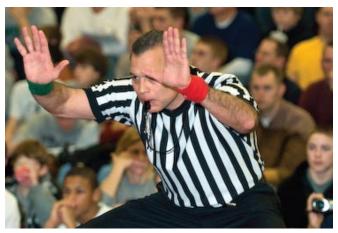

Donald L. Mason '79

"At Muskingum, I learned how to write and communicate clearly, and how to understand and appreciate different cultures. The broad liberal arts education I enjoyed at Muskingum has prepared me exceptionally well for my career in public service and public policy."

Don has served Ohio as a Public Utilities Commissioner, the Deputy Director of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, and Chief of its Oil and Gas Division. He served Zanesville as a multiple-term mayor and city councilman and is a dedicated leader in numerous community organizations.

He double-majored in history and political science, and was Muskingum's first NCAA All-American wrestler and a two-time OAC champion. He remains active in sports as a top Ohio wrestling official, and has coached baseball, football, and flag football – leading his teams to 13 Ohio and seven national flag football championships.

Muskingum NCAA All-American wrestler Don Mason '79 officiates the number-one ranked high school tournament in the nation, Walsh Jesuit High School, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio.

Don and his wife, Danielle, are the parents of Christian – a member of the Muskingum class of 2013 – Madeline, and Zachary. As a proud alumnus and now a Muskingum parent, he enjoys visiting the campus frequently.

"It's exciting to see the new programs and new facilities that are being built on the solid Muskingum traditions."
