The Muskingum College Board of Trustees proudly announces

THE LONG MAGENTA LINE ... THE CAMPAIGN FOR MUSKINGUM COLLEGE

Our Goal $55 million

“This is a strategic initiative, dedicated to our shared understanding that excellence in teaching & the enduring value of learning are the lasting heart & soul of this College.

Your generous gifts help us to build on the strengths that have enabled generations of Muskingum graduates to make an impact on our communities, our nation, & our world.”

Dr. Anne C. Steele, President

CAMPAIGN PRIORITIES

1 WE MUST BUILD. Our facilities rank at the bottom among our peer institutions in gross square feet of built space per student.

2 WE MUST STRENGTHEN OUR ENDOWMENT. At $53 million, our endowment is far smaller than our peer institutions.

3 WE MUST INVEST IN OUR ANNUAL FUND. A robust annual fund is vital to our academic mission—students, faculty, programs and facilities.

We're off to a record start with $39 million already received....

CAMPAIGN UP CLOSE

An $11.7 million comprehensive project dedicated to our communication arts program is now complete. Students in speech, theatre, broadcast journalism and graphic arts will discover new horizons in thought and expression within the rooms of Caldwell Hall. Students in literature, English, print journalism, and creative writing also have new quarters. The college has created a fully renovated, expanded and equipped office and classroom suite in Cambridge Hall for the English department and for our distinguished student-run and -managed publications, Black & Magenta (since 1894), Muscoljuan (since 1907), and First Circle, Muskingum's literary magazine.

The Long Magenta Line...The Campaign for Muskingum College was launched with fanfare & fireworks.

In a gala evening at the Rec Center, students, alumni, faculty and staff launched Muskingum's historic campaign. Robert Patin '64, campaign chair and trustee, hosted the event. He spoke of the remarkable progress that has already been made: “Through the dedication, hard work, and support of those who are in this room and many more who are with us in spirit tonight, the

He spoke, too, of the essential goals that remain, whose achievement depend upon the continued commitment and generosity from Muskingum's alumni and friends: “Take the time to imagine what your gift will do for this college. PHILIP AND BETSEY CALDWELL HALL

October 22, 2004 was a day of celebration that will be forever inscribed in Muskingum history.

On this day, our community dedicated its first new academic building in more than thirty years.

On this day, our community celebrated the vision and the unprecedented generosity of alumni and friends, for this $11.3 million communication arts center is fully paid for, thanks to those gifts.

This superb building represents the Muskingum of tomorrow. More than a much-needed new campus landmark, Philip and Betsey Caldwell Hall is a celebration of excellence and achievement, of quality and accomplishment. It is a product of vision and the fruition of good planning. It symbolizes lasting pride in Muskingum's Long Magenta Line and the exciting future now unfolding at the college on the hill.

"Let us apply our energies & our resources to take Muskingum College to ever higher levels of achievement," declared trustee Philip Caldwell '40. The building was named in honor of Caldwell and his wife, Betsey Clark Caldwell, in gratitude for their 60 years of service to Muskingum.

"Gifts to Muskingum last forever, because these are gifts of learning that students take with them after graduation and share throughout their lives." Hal Burlingame '62, Chair of the Board of Trustees

Philip and Betsey Caldwell Hall, the long-needed, splendid new home of our communication arts programs, stands as a testament to the generosity of the Long Magenta Line and to the enduring value of a Muskingum College liberal arts education.

Each classroom and multi-use area is designed to inspire interdisciplinary exploration and closer collaboration between students and professors. From its computer-aided classrooms to its state-of-the-art broadcast facilities to its fully equipped theatre, Caldwell Hall is a rich offering from Muskingum alumni to Muskingum students.

"Already, this new campus landmark is inspiring achievements among learners and innovative synergy across disciplines. We feel the energy throughout our campus." Dr. Anne C. Steele, President

DYNAMIC FUTURE

Just look at us now! We have built Caldwell Hall. The renewal and restoration of our beautiful campus is underway. Our accomplishments are already considerable.

Now...imagine what $55 million will do. Reaching this goal means that the College can complete its Master Facilities Plan, which provides for the renewal of our entire 225-acre campus. We have only one-third as much built space per student as our peer institutions. To secure our educational excellence and to attract the best students and faculty, we must construct new facilities that will support our programs. A gift to the Campaign is an investment in the quality of every student's Muskingum experience.

It is vitally important to our mission that we build two new facilities—a campus center and a music building.

The TOP LEVEL will house a resource center for the support of career services, international education and leadership development, as well as study and tutoring rooms, meeting and lounge areas and a computer lab. The MID LEVEL will offer a fitness center with circuit training, cardiovascular and free-weight areas as well as a classroom for group exercise. An events hall, a game room and a snack bar will occupy the LOWER LEVEL.

The Campus Center will preserve and integrate the natural beauty of its wooded setting. A bridge connecting the east and west residential hills will offer access to these facilities for all of Muskingum's 1,600 students. Architects are Bialosky and Partners, designers of Philip and Betsey Caldwell Hall.

To further the peer-to-peer learning that is so much a part of each Muskie's experience, the College hopes to break ground during the next year for a new campus social hub, the Campus Center. Located on the slope that lies below Kelley Hall and above the Hollow, the three-level building will be a center for students to gather, socialize, study and work out. It will be a place where students can get to know themselves and each other, and to learn from each other.

NEW DIMENSIONS FOR LEARNING

department on the east campus, doubling the department's critically important teaching space and putting it on a par with music programs at peer institutions.

Preliminary plans for the 20,000 square foot building include expanded space for instruction and rehearsal, as well as practice rooms, faculty studios, a music library, and instrumental storage.

Located at the main entrance to the college, between Paul Hall and the Manse, this building will help to revitalize our historic East Campus. While enhancing the music curriculum in service to Muskingum students, the facility will also be an outward expression of Muskingum's continuing vitality.

URGENT NEED

"A new building will enable the music program to uphold its longtime standards of excellence."
Hal Burlingame '62, Chair of the Board of Trustees

Music is an essential component of a liberal arts education, and never more so than at Muskingum. But our space for music study is woefully inadequate. In fact, compared to the amount of space for the study of music at peer schools, Muskingum's music department ranks at the bottom. Therefore, the Board of Trustees has resolved to construct a new home for the music

The Long Magenta Line...The Campaign for Muskingum College 2

With the dedication of Philip and Betsey Caldwell Hall last October, Muskingum launched the most ambitious capital campaign in its history. "Just look at us now!" relates our exciting progress, the fruition of long-held dreams, and the pressing needs that still await us.

The Invisible Child: Poverty in the Heartland 16

The nation's first conference confronting the issue of education and rural poverty was held at Muskingum last fall. The three-day conference brought together educational practitioners, policy makers, poverty experts and researchers from around the country.

Implications for Educators

In 1952, two years before the unanimous Supreme Court decision in the Brown v. Board of Education case was handed down, Ralph Ellison's first and only novel, Invisible Man, was released...

The main character in Invisible Man "is an invisible man, not that he is invisible but because people refuse to see him as he is"...He was unseen, his needs were not addressed, and as is the case of the children whose plight brought us to this conference, his existence was hardly acknowledged...

Many of those problems persist, and we have been reminded today that there are still pockets of invisible people in our nation, many of them children, whom our schools are failing to serve well.

—Dr. Helen Faison,
Director, Pittsburgh Teachers Institute

In small towns and along rural roads, poor children are unseen by the U.S. education system. Whether it's because they are looked down upon as "hillbillies" or they leave school when they become homeless, they have become shadows in their schools. They are misunderstood and missing.

To find ways to bring relief to the lives and educational challenges of these children, 500 educators, students, policymakers, and activists met at Muskingum from September 23-25, 2004, for a conference titled The Invisible Child: Poverty in the Heartland.

Through panels, workshops, speeches, and performances, the conference set out the parameters of the challenge: the economic struggles of poor parents, the hidden rules children live by, the resources and training that educators lack, and the question of will. As participants discovered—in sessions and discussions covering pedagogy and poetry and the desperate isolation and smells of impoverishment—attention must be paid, to and by these children and their families, at all levels: local, systemic, one-on-one, and institutional.

The three-day conference was an unprecedented dialogue among key stakeholders in this nationwide imperative. Teachers and administrators who work with children on a daily basis were able to exchange information, ideas and strategies with policy makers, members of government and public service agencies, researchers, businesses, churches, foundations and social agencies.

Muskingum's co-sponsors were the Heldrich Center for Workforce Development at Rutgers University and Pikeville

Ruby Payne

College in Kentucky. The conference was funded in part by the Appalachian Regional Commission and received strong collaboration and endorsement from the Ohio Governor's Office of Appalachia and the Ohio Mid-Eastern Governments Association, as well as from the public education and business sectors.

Keynote Speaker

Jonathan Kozol, author, educator, speaker and social activist. Death at an Early Age, the story of his first year in teaching, received a 1968 National Book Award and is a classic in the field of education. Savage Inequalities received a 1991 New England Book Award and Amazing Grace was a national best-seller. A summa cum laude graduate of Harvard and Rhodes Scholar, Kozol is a recipient of Guggenheim, Rockefeller and Ford Foundation Fellowships.

Distinguished Speakers

Elijah Anderson, Charles and William L. Day Professor of the Social Sciences, University of Pennsylvania and author of A Place on the Corner, The Code of the Street, and the award winning Streetwise.

Helen Faison, Director, Pittsburgh Teachers Institute and Distinguished Professor, Chatham College. Recipient of the National Leadership award from the Institute for Educational Leadership, Faison has been in the forefront of Pittsburgh's educational and civic life for half a century.

Braden Goetz, Director of Policy, Research and Evaluation, Office of Vocational and Adult Education, U.S. Department of Education.

Paul Patton, former Governor of Kentucky; Trustee and Distinguished Visiting Lecturer in Public Policy and Leadership, Pikeville College.

Ruby Payne, educator, author, entrepreneur and speaker. Founder and CEO of aha! Process, Inc., a training and publishing company, and author of a dozen books, including the groundbreaking A Framework for Understanding Poverty.

Carl Van Horn, Founding Director, Heldrich Center for Workforce Development and Professor of Public Policy, Rutgers University. Author of fourteen books, Van Horn has held senior level policymaking positions for the U.S. Congress and the State of New Jersey.

Muskingum students contribute to national Model U.N. Conference

Seven students represented Muskingum at the national American Model United Nations Conference in November. This highly regarded annual event takes place over three days and “strives to combine educational quality with highly realistic simulations of the United Nations.”* The participants, all members of the Muskingum United Nations Club, decided to represent Madagascar. In preparation, the students conducted extensive research into the country’s background and its current critical issues, prepared a position paper, and studied the AMUN rules of procedure. Dr. Michelle Boomgaard, assistant professor of political science, was the group’s adviser.

Nathan Felde

Design and communications visionary Nathan Felde shared his insights with students and faculty during a campus visit last fall.

Felde is a renowned visual communications system designer whose achievements range from pioneering poster design to exotic prototype telecommunications networks. His thirty year career has been defined by innovation and recognized with distinction in an astonishing array of disciplines.

A successful entrepreneur and an expert in business, product and brand development, Felde has a client list that ranges from The White House to Mercedes Benz, and from Sustainable Harvest to Texas Gas. In his current business, he is engaged with some of today’s most complex design challenges: knowledge and information management; and privacy, personalized services and individual control of personal data on the Internet.

During nearly a decade of executive positions with NYNEX businesses, Felde authored Big Yellow (now Verizon SuperPages), one of the earliest on-line phone directories, and was founder-director of the Media Laboratory, which explored then-nascent broadband network technology.

Felde’s designs are in the collections of the Smithsonian, the Library of Congress, the Museum of Modern Art, the Cooper-Hewitt National Design Museum and the Louvre (Museum of Decorative Arts).

Inaugural season of the Sandra Wolfe Thompson Theatre Popularity & versatility characterize its success

A MIDSUMMER NIGHT’S DREAM
BY WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE

The Sandra Wolfe Thompson Theatre in Caldwell Hall was inaugurated with a production of Shakespeare’s beloved play, A Midsummer Night’s Dream. The show played to a full house throughout its run. Dr. Jerry Martin, director of the production and professor of speech communication and theatre, selected Dream because it has been performed so frequently throughout Muskingum’s theatre history.

THE THUMBPRINT CLUB
BY MUSKINGUM COLLEGE
THEATRE STUDENTS

The versatility of our new theatre was in evidence just a few weeks later, when the theatre department presented The Thumbprint Club, its second production of the season. In contrast to the universally-known repertoire of Shakespeare, director Dr. Diane Rao, associate professor of theatre, chose to have her students write, stage and perform a play with music, based on their own experiences. Thumbprint, a story about how children deal with bullies, was the engaging result.

Muskingum College Musical Theatre presents Mozart operas 15-year old Lyric Theatre changes its name

Each fall and each spring, for the past 15 years, Brown Chapel audiences have delighted in the staged, choreographed musical theatre performances of the Lyric Theatre Workshop. Conceived, originated and directed by Carol Wilcox-Jones, artist-in-residence and assistant professor of music, since its inception, this campus tradition took a new name last fall—Muskingum College Musical Theatre.

Along with its new name, the program featured opera for the first time, complete with sets and costumes. A cast of nineteen students performed two well-loved Mozart works (the first act of each), The Marriage of Figaro and The Magic Flute.

Painting honors international collaboration with Lanzhou University, China

Muskingum's growing relationship of cultural and intellectual exchange with Lanzhou University in China was honored by the gift of a work of art that was presented to President Anne Steele by President Li Fashen of Lanzhou University.

The painting, by the renowned artist Zhang

Zhengyoung, depicts a flying Bodhisattva, which represents enlightenment, compassion, and the spirit of freedom so central to a liberal arts education.

The painting hangs prominently outside the offices of career services and student affairs, to welcome and inspire students during their daily activities.

L-R: Professor Xia Zhao (Lanzhou University); Dr. Daniel Norton, Director of International Programs; Yanna Zhang (exchange student, Lanzhou University); Dr. George Sims, Vice President for Academic Affairs; Dr. Anne Steele, President; David Soltys and Kathy Miller two of the 8 Muskingum students who visited Lanzhou; Yan Sun, Chair of Art Department; Dr. Hong Sun (Computer and Network Services).

A new world for first year students The Wilds

The new world of college got even larger for first-year Muskies when they visited the Wilds as part of Orientation Week last August. The world-renowned animal research, conservation and education facility, built on reclaimed strip mining acreage, is just forty miles from campus.

The students learned that, because of the strong relationship that Muskingum has with the Wilds, they have real-life, professional learning opportunities, both in coursework and internships, that are rarely available to undergraduates. In a dialogue with Associate Professor of Biology James Dooley, the students came to understand that the value of this resource for them reaches beyond studies in life science. Regardless of discipline, students must develop critical thinking skills which they can apply to a complex and uncertain world, all of which is represented in the unique and groundbreaking work of the Wilds.

Senior Brandon Clum Selected for Aztec Bowl

Football senior Brandon Clum was selected as one of only 44 student-athletes across our nation to represent Division III football and the United States of America in the 2004 Aztec Bowl in Cancun, Mexico.

Clum and his teammates triumphed in this annual contest between Mexican football all-stars and Division III stand-outs, beating their opponent 23-3. Team selections were made by the American Football Coaches Association on the basis of athletic achievements and academic talents. Clum, a defensive end, was a leader on the Muskingum defense and an All-Ohio Athletic Conference first team honoree. In the classroom, Brandon majors in middle childhood education and is a repeat member of the dean's list.

Head football coach Jeff Heacock commented, "Brandon was a tremendous representative for our football program and Muskingum." Brandon joins former center, Jim Kornokovich '01, a 2000 Aztec Bowl athlete, as Muskingum's first two representatives to this prestigious competition.

Scholar-Athlete Mark Waller honored by National Football Foundation & College Hall of Fame

The National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame Columbus Chapter recognized defensive back Mark Waller as a 2005 Central Ohio College Scholar-Athlete.

For 44 years, these two organizations have honored top central Ohio scholar-athlete football players across all divisions for outstanding academic application and performance, exemplary school leadership and citizenship, and superior football performance.

Waller was also named first team Academic All-Ohio Athletic Conference in 2003 and 2004 and was an Academic All-District IV honoree in 2003.

A four-year member of the dean's list, Waller carries a double major in computer science and economics. He is a member of the Lambda Sigma

Honor Society, Kappa Mu Epsilon National Collegiate Math Honor Society, Omicron Delta Kappa National Leadership Society, and Association for Computing Machinery. His outstanding achievements enabled him to attain a prestigious postgraduate job with IBM in Boulder, Colorado

Head coach Jeff Heacock praised Waller, saying, "Mark is a leader and role model amongst his peers, both in the classroom and in our football program. This award acknowledges the qualities that he has portrayed over the last four years."

This is the third consecutive year that a member of Muskingum's football team was honored as a Central Ohio College Scholar-Athlete (Chris Shank, 2003 and Scott Elzey, 2004).

Muskie Honors

Muskie scholar-athletes won 25 postseason awards in recognition of their superior performances in fall sports. The football team, led by Coach Jeff Heacock, gathered ten All-Ohio Athletic Conference awards. Women's soccer, led by Coach Mary Beth Caudill, won two All-OAC and four Academic All-OAC designations. Additionally, junior Laura Anderson was named to both All-OAC and Academic All-OAC squads (her second consecutive year for the latter). Four members of the men's soccer team, led by Coach Seamus Reilly, won All-OAC awards. Volleyball, led by Coach Elizabeth Zicha, was highlighted by two Academic All-OAC winners and a school record for single-season blocks, 197, set by junior Hannah Babcock. In cross country, a senior runner earned All-OAC honors. The team competes under the leadership of Coach Bill Cooper.

2005 Athletic Hall of Fame Nominations

A highlight of each homecoming weekend is the induction of new members to the Muskingum College Athletic Hall of Fame.

To qualify: Former Muskie athletes must have earned at least two letters in one sport or one letter in two sports. If a female athlete competed before letters were awarded, her outstanding accomplishments or record in athletics will be considered. Candidates must have graduated at least five years prior to selection. A coach or athletic administrator nominee must have lettered in a sport while a student or have been a member of Muskingum's staff for at least ten years. Candidates must be retired or no longer employed by Muskingum.

Deceased alumni, coaches or administrators may be nominated according to the preceding standards. Those nominated, but not selected last year, will automatically be reconsidered this year. There is no limit to the number of times an individual may be nominated.

AlumniMuskieInterns

Let's get acquainted: sponsor a Muskie intern.

Internships are an invaluable way for students to get acquainted with a profession...and for employers to get acquainted with potential valuable employees.

Internships that are sponsored by alumni enrich the experience immeasurably. That's why, year after year, IBM, Resource Systems and other organizations enthusiastically welcome Muskingum students as interns.

Scott McBeth '81 is director of software development for IBM Printing Systems. For the past two years, IBM has accepted a Muskingum student into its highly competitive internship program. Scott Ziegler '04 and Mark Waller '05 were both hired upon their graduation.

Resource Systems in New Concord was founded 25 years ago by Larry Triplett '80 and Greg Adams '81. As entrepreneurs, Greg and Larry understood the value of interns for a young technology company. Today, 18 interns later and as leaders of a successful enterprise, they continue to hire Muskingum interns.

Let's get acquainted. Find out how you too can benefit as an AlumniMuskieInterns sponsor. Contact me with your ideas & questions.

Dr. Douglas Lyle, March 7, 2004, New Concord, Ohio.

Doug was associate professor of music from 1961 to 1981. He performed frequently and was principal cellist of the Southeastern Ohio Symphony for 38 years. He was an ardent champion of music education, and established the Ohio Cello Choir, the Southeastern Ohio Youth Symphony Orchestra and many workshops for students and educators. Doug earned two undergraduate degrees from the University of Minnesota, and a master's degree and PhD in music from the University of Wisconsin-Madison. He was past president of the Ohio Orchestra and String Teachers Association (OSTA) and was also a member of the College Drive Presbyterian Church. Doug was a U.S. Navy Air Force veteran of World War II. He was born and raised in Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Doug is survived by his wife, Carol Sykora '64 Lyle; daughters, Valerie, Wendy and Jennifer, of Muskingum's office of institutional advancement; siblings, Donald and Gretchen; and grandsons, Craig and Benjamin. Also among his surviving relatives are a son-in-law, James Burson '63, professor and men's basketball coach, and step-granddaughter, Jamie Burson '86 Nelis.

Aundah F. Moorehead, March 29, 2004, Zanesville, Ohio.

Aundah retired from Muskingum's physical plant staff after many years of custodial service, which included housekeeping at the Mance for President and Mrs. Robert Montgomery. She was a member of the Norwich United Methodist Church, Pleasant Grove Grange and the West Union Willing Workers Club.

Dr. James L. Smith, October 25, 2004, Conway, South Carolina.

Professor Emeritus of Mathematics James Smith taught at Muskingum for 30 years (1963-93). He was a Fulbright professor (University of Malawi, Africa), national president of Kappa Mu Epsilon (the national mathematics honorary) and president of the Mathematical Association of America, Ohio Section. Jim was very active in professional organizations, including NCTM and OCTM (Ohio and National Councils of Teachers of Mathematics) and was a lifelong member of Lions Club International.

Jim was a graduate of the University of Louisville, received his master's degree at the University of Pittsburgh, and his doctoral degree at Oklahoma State University. Additional sabbatical and visiting professorships were spent at Washington State University, University of New Hampshire and the Ohio State University.

Following his retirement from Muskingum, he and his wife served their church as volunteers in mission in Egypt and in New Mexico at the McCurdy School (for American Indian children).

Jim was an officer veteran of the U.S. Marine Corps. He was born in Lackawanna, NY. Jim is survived by his wife, Anne Wilson '79 Smith; daughter, Catherine Smith Seamons; sons, Stephan '88, Douglas '82 and David; a brother; and seven grandchildren.

ALUMNA AND TRUSTEE CHARLEEN GREEN KIRKPATRICK '50 DONATES NEARLY $3 MILLION

Muskingum College received an extraordinarily generous bequest, totaling $2.8 million, from alumna and former trustee, Dr. Charleen Green Kirkpatrick.

An ardent advocate for Muskingum's goals and academic mission, Dr. Kirkpatrick's commitment to our learning community spanned almost six decades. During her board service, from 1980 to 1999, she chaired the academic affairs committee and helped lead Muskingum's 'Design for Tomorrow' fundraising campaign in the 1980s. After her retirement from the board, she became an emerita member until her death.

Dr. Kirkpatrick was twice honored by her alma mater, first with an honorary degree in 1992 and again in 1996 with the Distinguished Service Award.

Dr. Kirkpatrick earned her medical degree from the Women's Medical College of Pennsylvania in 1954 and then embarked on a forty-year career as an anesthesiologist in southern California.

As a Muskingum undergraduate, Dr. Kirkpatrick majored in chemistry and was active in the FAD Club, the band, the Pre-Med Club and the Gospel Team. Later, she became a member of the Alumni Council.

"This leadership bequest, to our endowment, challenges us to continue our legacy of educational excellence while also providing us with the resources to do so," noted President Anne Steele. "Our community of learning will be forever appreciative of Dr. Kirkpatrick."
